I. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS:

X1 The first running of Intelligence Research (Techniques) was completed on 7 February. A graduation party given by [] was attended by DTR, AD/SI, C/IS, faculty, and students. The eight students in this full-time, four-week course made extremely favorable comments in the final course critique. Several recommended that analysts take a refresher course every three to five years. Because the intelligence research experience of students ranged from three months to five years, the course was conducted on the seminar plan. The seminars resulted in a stimulating exchange of information. Tentative plans are being made to offer this course to OSI again in March.

II. OTHER ACTIVITIES:

A. Management Training

(1) The third large follow-up meeting for alumni of Basic Supervision was held on 6 February. It is hoped that the next large group meeting of this kind will be scheduled for some time in April.

(2) As of this date, 32 people have applied for Introduction to Supervision (GS 9-11), 17-21 February, and 22 for the regular Basic Supervision (GS 9-11), 3-6 March. Enrollment for each will be limited to 18.
